

1. Login to your Github account using your credential.
2. Select the repository for which you want to set up email notification for push notification.

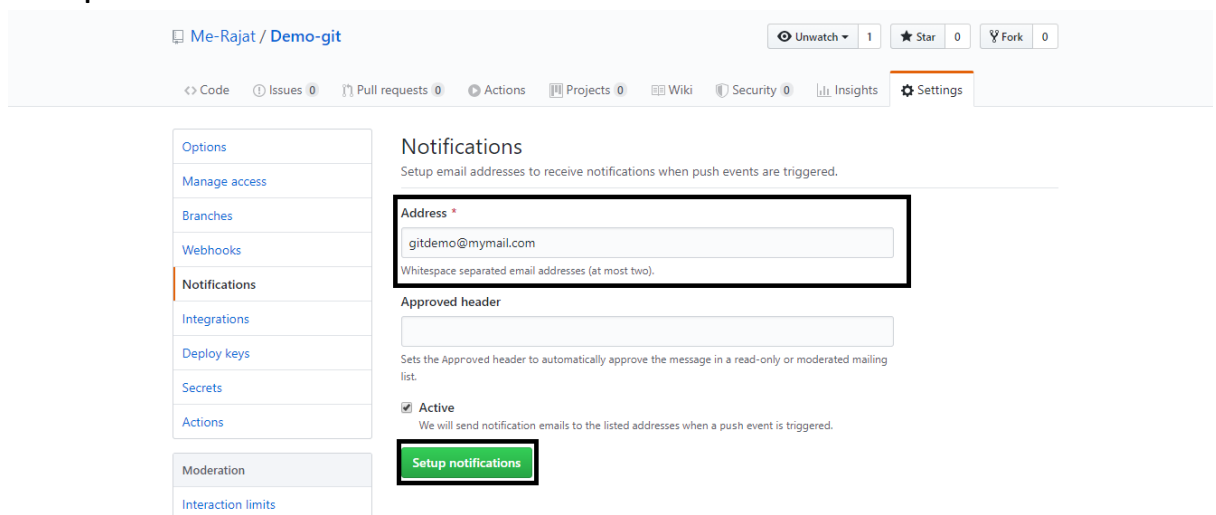

3. Then go to setting tab of that repository situated in extreme right.

4. Now select the Notifications tab inside setting option.

5. Fill the email address where you want to send email notification make sure the Active tab is checked and click on setup notification.

6. Now you successfully added email notification for push operation. Now each time when push operation will done an email will send to respected email address.